

FUTURE IMPROVEMENTS IN BIBLINDEX

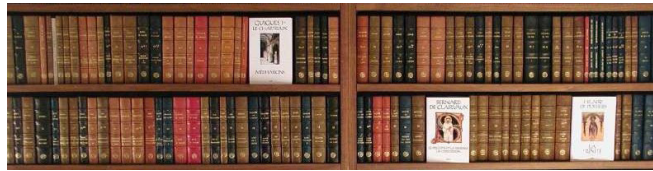

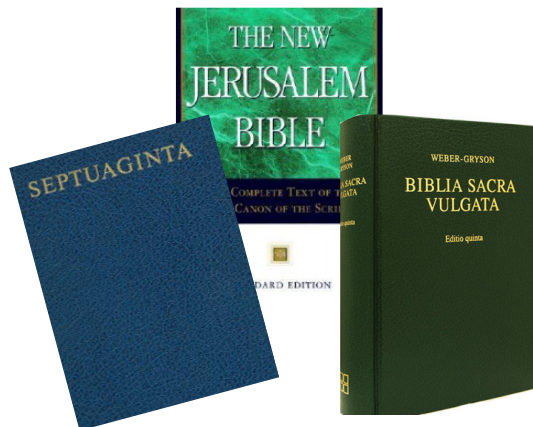

Enlargement of the corpus:

In the coming years, the BIBLINDEX database should include the remaining Biblia Patristica archives, Cyril of Alexandria at first, and then all biblical indexes of editions published in the Sources Chrétiennes series. This already very broad corpus (at present 540 volumes) of Greek, Latin and Syriac writers extends to the Middle Ages, including e.g. Bernard of Clairvaux.

The ultimate goal of this site is to permit the identification of biblical quotations in all Jewish and Christian literature of Late Antiquity and the Middle Ages.

Functional enhancements:

- better ergonomics, to make the interface more convenient and user-friendly and to offer more options for sorting results;
- choice of the biblical version, either the Septuagint or the Vulgate, no longer just Jerusalem Bible; display of the biblical text;
- a collaborative platform, so that each user can have the opportunity to contribute.

BIBLINDEX is supported by the French Institut des Sources Chrétiennes, a CNRS research team in patristics affiliated to Lyon II University, with the collaboration of the Peshitta Institute of Leiden and a wide-ranging network of French and foreign contributors.

FROM BIBLIA PATRISTICA ... TO BIBLINDEX

1965-2000 : Biblia Patristica

Between 1975 and 2000, 8 volumes of Biblia Patristica, printed indexes of biblical citations in patristic literature

(CNRS Publishers), were published, produced by the Center for Patristics Analysis and Documentation (C.A.D.P. in Strasbourg).

When Biblia Patristica ceased its activity in 2000, the data were entrusted to Sources Chrétiennes, as 2 CD-ROMS and paper lists of unverified references (at least 500,000).

2006 - ... : BIBLINDEX

Between 2006 et 2009, thanks to funding from the Rhône-Alpes Regional Council, Sources Chrétiennes progressively developed BIBLINDEX from Biblia Patristica database; at present, it consists of ca. 400,000 biblical references, namely:

- all the data published in Biblia Patristica, lightly updated:

1. Beginnings to Clement of Alexandria and Tertullian.
2. The third century (except Origen).
3. Origen.
4. Eusebius of Caesarea, Cyril of Jerusalem, Epiphanius of Salamis.
5. Basil of Caesarea, Gregory Nazianzen, Gregory of Nyssa, Amphiloque of Iconium.
6. Hilary of Poitiers, Ambrose of Milan, Ambrosiaster.
7. Didymus of Alexandria. Supplement, Philo of Alexandria.

- unpublished data from the CD-ROMS, ca. 100,000 (unverified) references:

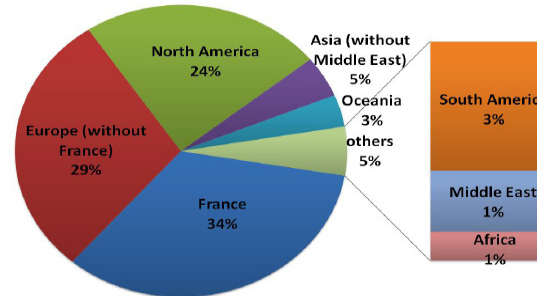

The majority of works from the following writers have been analysed:

- Athanasius of Alexandria
- John Chrysostom
- Theodoret of Cyrus
- Procopius of Gaza
- Jerome

A few updates concerning those authors already included were also added.

Available online since December 2008, the BIBLINDEX site in its β -version has, 15 months later, more than 2,600 regular users from 64 countries.
